

ENEMY ALIENS HERE NEED NOT MOVE YET

Major Pullman Announces That Restrictions Go Into Effect June 1.

Unnaturalized Germans living within half a mile of the Navy Yard, Marine Barracks, Washington Barracks, Naval Observatory, or Giesboro Point steel plant will not be required to move until June 1, Major Pullman announced today.

The major also announced that the Attorney General had decided to give United States Marshal Maurice Spain authority to issue permits to Germans to remain residents within or travel through the restricted areas under certain conditions.

The order of the Attorney General, as made public by Pullman, reads in part as follows:

Text of Order.

"An alien enemy who fails to remove prior to June 1, 1917, shall be summarily arrested. Alien enemies who do not reside within one-half mile of the places above referred to and who come within one-half mile of said places will not be at their own risk and may be summarily arrested."

"The marshal may issue a permit to anyone to continue to reside in the forbidden locality or to come within the forbidden locality for the purpose of passing through such half-mile area or of being employed or doing business within the same, if, after such proof as the marshal may require, he is satisfied that such continued residence or such passage through or such employment will not be dangerous to the community or to the United States."

Conference Ordered.

"Permits must not be issued, however, until after the marshal shall have conferred with the special agent of the Department of Justice, and until after the employer of the applicant shall certify in writing, in such form as the Attorney General shall prescribe, that he desires to employ or to continue to employ the applicant, and that he is satisfied that such employment will not be to the injury of the community or of the United States or until the applicant (if he is himself the head of a business) shall give such security or assurance as shall be prescribed that he will strictly obey the law and the President's proclamation, and the marshal, before issuing any permit, shall secure the approval of the United States Attorney or Assistant United States Attorney."

"All permits issued will be revocable at any time if the interests of the United States so require. Whenever permission is given to more than one alien enemy to reside or to be employed within a forbidden locality, a violation of law or of the President's proclamation by any holder of such permit may result in the revocation of the permits of every alien enemy within such locality. It will therefore be necessary in their own interest that all alien enemies should see that each obeys the law and the proclamation."

SECULAR LEAGUE ELECTION.

Officers will be elected Sunday afternoon by the Washington Secular League in Pythian Temple. This will be the last meeting of the league this season. Dr. Riley D. Moore will speak on "The Breath of Life."

UNITED STATES SENATOR WETMORE

Son of Former Senator to Be Buried in Rhode Island.

The body of Roger Wetmore, son of former United States Senator Wetmore of Rhode Island, and who died yesterday at his home, 1313 Massachusetts avenue northwest, of apoplexy, was taken to his former home in Newport, R. I., last night. Interment will be in that city tomorrow.

Mr. Wetmore apparently had been in the best of health. He was born in 1882, when his father was on a mission for this government. He was educated at Eton, England, where he was a roommate of the Prince of Wales.

He is survived by his parents, two sisters, Misses Maude and Edith, and a brother, William Wetmore.

BRING RUSSIAN INTO EDDYSTONE BLAST

Two Messages Sent Following
Munitions Explosion May Clear Up Case.

CHESTER, Pa., April 27.—"Explosion occurred today; our crowd safe."

This terse message wired to a radical Russian newspaper in New York may be the missing link in the chain of mystery that today had appeared in the investigation into the Eddystone munitions disaster.

As Coroner Drewes' inquest into the disaster entered its second day, evidence was brought out disclosing these facts and connecting with them Waskoff, a Russian government inspector. Federal and municipal authorities are combing the country for this man.

Sent Soon After Explosion.

The message was sent by Waskoff only a few hours after the munitions plant had crumpled under a series of terrific powder explosions, according to agents who have been investigating the disaster.

Only two weeks before the explosion, it was brought out by many of the Russians employed in the destroyed plant engaged in a radical meeting, urging an "industrial revolution." Logedra, another Russian inspector, and close friend of Waskoff, participated in this meeting. He was the first witness on the stand today.

Telegram Sent to Wife.

Walter Durman, a Russian, testified to having been the man who urged an "industrial revolution," also is missing. He is believed to be in New Jersey.

Hunter Nugent, of Harrisburg, deputy State marshal, brought out that another telegram was sent from Eddystone the day of the explosion to "Miss Mary Marisa, 48 Stuyvesant street, New York." It read: "Explosion has occurred. I am safe.—Shika."

The authorities discovered that "Miss Marisa" was Waskoff's wife.

FOR BACKWARD PUPILS.

All pupils of the third division who face a possibility of repeating their work at the end of this semester will be permitted to attend the coaching school for backward students conducted by the Parents' League at the Wilson Normal School. It was announced today. Classes meet Tuesdays and Thursdays at 2:30 o'clock. Competent instructors are in charge. A series of eight lessons will be given.

An entertainment for the benefit of the Parents' League will be given at the Wilson Normal School tonight at 8 o'clock.

LONDON WELCOMES 'BIG PUSH' WOUNDED

Cheers and Flowers Greet Soldiers Back From the Ancre.

LONDON, April 27.—Lowering dusk and a whining wind; dense crowds, a gray ambulance line drawn up in the train shed, a suppressed feeling of emotion—this is how London welcomed "back home" her wounded from the great push.

It was so last night. Coster women squawked like parrots when the "blighty" boys arrived; the Londoners cheered and threw flowers; diners grew cold in a thousand households—but the wounded were greeted with the welcome of triumphant heroes.

By the time the train arrived the audience had grown to two long rows five or ten deep in the train shed and thousands more outside.

Coster Women Thrive.

The first ambulance sneaked timidly out of the shed, seeming to tip-toe through the rows of craning necks. Coster women ripped through the crowd, shrilling their cry of "Violet! Sweet violet and daffodil for the wounded!" and peddling with both hands.

Peering into the shadowy interior of the creeping ambulance, the crowd saw six men lying on swiveling cots with a nurse stooping over examining the symptoms of one.

Flowers rained out of the crowd, gently pelted the wounded. Violets and daffodils, poorly aimed, fell under the wheels—but no matter. Their intentions were good. Two wounded men propped themselves up and nodded in response to the welcome. One had been shot through the face, for only one eye and a portion of his nose were showing through the bandage. Still he seemed to smile with that one eye. Just off the fringe of the throng a little cubby-hole of a cigar store was enjoying a business rush. Two clerks shoved out cigarettes in twenty-fives and fifties.

"Gimme hundred Virginias," one white-whiskered man demanded. He grabbed four packages and pushed back to his place on the curb, extracting handfuls to throw at the wounded men.

"Sitters" Appreciative.

Ambulances were filing softly past in regular intervals of half a minute, their headlights flashing on the shiny pavement. Some had a "sitter"—a man whose wounds permitted him to sit up on the stretcher. The sitters waved back at the fluttering handkerchiefs, and nurses smiled in appreciation of the tribute to the men. At the last came an ambulance that moved more slowly than the others. This particular ambulance carried some one who was very badly off. The cheering hushed.

Through the back of the car a doctor was seen bending over a wounded man. A little homely woman in the front rank covertly made the sign of the cross, and then smiled up at her son whose face was disfigured and whose sleeve was marked with the gold stripes showing he had been wounded "doing his bit."

SALOONIST LOSES RENT SUIT.

Justice McCoy, in the District Supreme Court, yesterday handed down an opinion holding that leases on property occupied by a saloon cannot be broken because the law stops the sale of liquor there. The opinion was given in a suit filed by Mrs. Mary E. Dugan against Jeremiah Costello, alleging he had leased the saloon property at 632 Delaware avenue southwest for five years, beginning November 1911, but had since moved out and had not paid rent since October, 1914. Costello, in reply, said that under the law passed by Congress the premises, in question was in a residence section, where saloons were excluded.

WASTE AIDS ENEMY, RAILWAY MEN SAY

Speeding Up of Transportation
by Unification of Systems
Resolved Upon.

Declaring that every primary American interest is to win the war, the Railway Business Association, a national organization of car, track, and appliance manufacturers, today announced it would take every step to reduce transportation delays in an effort to perfect railway facilities and "do its bit" in the war.

The association will urge shippers to co-operate through fuller car loading and prompt loading and unloading of cars, and will attempt to organize shippers and consignees in a movement to order supplies at seasons when a large flow of empty cars is expected to be returned in the direction the shipment must go.

Regulations Suspended.

The Railway Business Association also will encourage the use of cars in any direction, under suspension of regulations announced by the railroad defense committee of the American Railway Association a week ago, permitting the sending of cars away from roads owning them and the operation of the railroads of the country as one unit without retarding entanglements.

The action taken by the Railway Business Association will tend to curtail orders by diminishing requirements of customers. The peace time work of the association is to foster demand and sell all the output possible.

Waste Aids Enemy.

Following a conference with railway advisory committees of the Council of National Defense last week, President George A. Post said today:

"Waste by any one of us in any sphere is aid and comfort to the enemy. Operation of the 250,000 miles of railways as a single system by the concentration of authority in a central committee was proposed and approved at a memorable conference of railway executives. The Railway Business Association has offered its unlimited support toward making every pound of traffic move, and will do what it can to limit shipping waste."

VETERAN MISSIONARY DIES.

Word of the death of Archdeacon Eliot H. Thompson, of the Protestant Episcopal Mission in Shanghai, China, was received here yesterday by his son, Eliot H. Thompson, Jr., of the Washington Loan and Trust Company. He was in his eighty-third year, and had spent fifty-eight years in the mission service. Mr. Thompson is survived by his widow, three sons and one daughter. Funeral services and burial will be in Shanghai.

RUSS ARMY SWORN TO FIGHT TO FINISH

Copenhagen Advices Indicate
Failure of German Propaganda Among Slavs.

COPENHAGEN, April 27.—Far from being affected by the tremendous and insidious Germanic pressure for a separate peace, Russia's ties with the entente allies are slowly strengthening, according to information reaching here today through diplomatic channels.

What was regarded by pro-allies here as the most interesting evidence of Russia's increasing war power against the Teutons was information of highest authenticity that the Russian army has pledged itself to the war.

The provisional government's plan of sending its leaders to the various fronts to explain to the soldiers the plans of the new regime and the menace of Germany has proved successful. Word received here is that unanimity on all fronts among all soldiers now that the provisional government's war program must be carried through. There were various other moves reported from Russia in which diplomats professed to see the weaving of even closer bonds between Russia and England and France. For that reason there is the greatest interest here in the forthcoming note to its allies announced by the Petrograd officials.

RECORD HORSE SHOW ENTRY

Seventy-six Mounts to Take Part in One Event Here.

Seventy-six horses are entered in the free-for-all jump of the National Capital horse show, May 5 to 10, which is believed to establish a new American record for the largest number of entries in a single horse show event.

While statistics are no available, officials of the association today said that this is a record for the local show and that they did not believe that the Madison Square Garden or any other horse shows held in this country had ever attracted so many thoroughbreds for one class.

In the free-for-all the best horses of the East, South, and West are entered and exceptionally high-class jumping is looked for.

Manager Hassen and other officials of the show are considering having the show start this year at 1 instead of 2 p. m. So many nominations have been made in all of the eighty-odd classes scheduled that it is thought the events cannot be run off in the time heretofore allowed.
